

United Nations partners

Every year, the United Nations Volunteers programme (UNV) deploys UN Volunteers at the request of United Nations partners in support of their peace and development operations and programmes. Volunteerism is a unique way to actively engage people in the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals. UN Volunteers serve within UN partner entities and are often the face of the United Nations at grassroots level.

Visit the dedicated pages for our partner UN entities below to learn more about our partnership and see the latest annual data on UN Volunteers.
