In new publication, UN Volunteers in Bangladesh tell stories of MDGs progress

To mark International Volunteer Day, the UNV Field Unit in Bangladesh has published Volunteering for the MDGs in Bangladesh. The colorful booklet provides an overview of UNV’s activities in Bangladesh and relates the country’s progress in achieving the Millennium Development Goals through stories about volunteering. The booklet features a volunteer story for each of the MDGs with all but one directly involving a UN Volunteer. The booklet also outlines recent and current efforts in Bangladesh to address the post-2015 development agenda.
Sustainable Development Goal: