Engaging with UNV

COUNTRIES

Technology has changed the way we live. Technology has also changed the way we volunteer. Today, the Internet allows organizations and volunteers to tackle the world's most important issues together, from right where they are.

Online volunteering allows people to contribute to solving global challenges anywhere in the world, using the technology at their fingertips – smartphones, tablets or computers. Online volunteering is fast, easy – and most of all, effective.

Since the year 2000, the UNV Online Volunteering service has helped over 3,000 United Nations entities, civil society organizations and public institutions find 80,000 great volunteers.

UNV, as the UN mandated advocate for global volunteerism, is looking for partners that recognize the transformative power of online volunteering and wish to proactively engage citizens in making a difference for sustainable development by using technology to manage their volunteer programmes.

Countries can adopt our bespoke volunteering management platform to support their sustainable development goals agenda.

The United Nations Volunteers (UNV) programme contributes to peace and development through volunteerism worldwide. We work with partners to integrate qualified, highly motivated and well supported UN Volunteers into development programming and promote the value and global recognition of volunteerism.

UNV is active in around 130 countries every year. With field presences in over 80 countries, UNV is represented worldwide. UNV is administered by the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP).
