UN VOLUNTEER DESCRIPTION OF ASSIGNMENT

AFGR001501--Political Affairs Assistant

The United Nations Volunteers (UNV) programme is the UN organization that promotes volunteerism to support peace and development worldwide. Volunteerism can transform the pace and nature of development and it benefits both society at large and the individual volunteer. UNV contributes to peace and development by advocating for volunteerism globally, encouraging partners to integrate volunteerism into development programming, and mobilizing volunteers. In most cultures, volunteerism is deeply embedded in long-established, ancient traditions of sharing and support within the communities. In this context, UN Volunteers take part in various forms of volunteerism and play a role in development and peace together with co-workers, host agencies and local communities. In all assignments, UN Volunteers promote volunteerism through their action and conduct. Engaging in volunteer activity can effectively and positively enrich their understanding of local and social realities, as well as create a bridge between themselves and the people in their host community. This will make the time they spend as UN Volunteers even more rewarding and productive.

Organizational Context & Project Description

According to UN policy directives to achieve gender equity, and the UN system-wide goal established in 1994 to reach 50/50 parity at all levels and in all entities, the gender imbalance at UNAMA is staggering.
The representation of female staff at UNAMA varies from 7% to 30%.

During the past 10 years, there has been ongoing concern about the gender imbalance at UNAMA. This was most recently expressed during the Senior Gender Dialogue meetings by the current SRSG. It was noted that additional measures are now required if the status quo is to change. Consequently, the SRSG asked the O/CMS to review the situation and identify creative ways to attract and retain qualified female national and international staff.

UNAMA Gender balance project:

Capacity building of female national candidates: Pursuant to UN Security Council Resolution 1325 (2000) and 7 subsequent resolutions together comprising the Women, Peace & Security (WPS) agenda, relevant UN policies promoting gender equality within the organization and a request from the SRSG to identify ways to address the current gender imbalances at UNAMA, we see the potential to pilot a National Youth UN Volunteer (NUNV) scheme targeting national women university graduates for 1-2 years to allow them to gain professional work experience in order to apply for regular posts. The use of National UN Volunteers in UNAMA can provide a framework for enhancing the opportunities for national women to advance through addressing the present Human Resources requirements of academic qualifications and lack of work related experience training that continue to have adverse effects women’s access to employment in DPKO/DPA missions. Recruitment of national UNVs through the NUNV modality to work alongside UNAMA personnel will provide on-the-job training which will help to strengthen their technical and professional skills ensuring that young female Afghans enjoy equal access to employment opportunities and will meet experience requirements to apply as national staff in UNAMA.

Justification: In order to implement the political affairs division work plan, with special reference to SC Resolution 1325 of 2000 on Women, Peace and Security, female national UNV Political Affairs Assistants are required in the Political Affairs Division HQ in Kabul as well as in each of the field offices, in order to be able to address peace and reconciliation with the inclusion of different sectors of civil society, especially women and victims representatives in peace and reconciliation processes.

The lack of female staff impacts upon the Mission’s ability to implement its mandate, particularly as it relates to the inclusion of women in peace processes (a key component of the mission mandate and the obligations of the UN Security Council in the Women, Peace and Security agenda). This position is specifically to provide support to engage women in peace processes, and to build capacity of staff to develop gender-sensitive and gender-responsive methods of work in important area of building an environment conducive to peace and stability.

The lack of female national staff in political affairs teams in the field offices limits the Political Affairs Division from implementing its mandate to support women groups and gender equality. The majority of the country is conservative and male-dominant where women have less engagement in social and civic activities outside their homes. The majority of the political teams in the field have no national female staff. Recruiting a female NUNV to each political team in the field and providing her on-hands-training will support greater engagement, capacity development and advocacy support with women groups for...

Sustainable Development Goals 16. Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions
