Remarque sur le lieu d’affectation

The National UNV receives a standard volunteer living allowance (VLA), which is intended to cover their accommodation and basic living expenses. In China, the VLA is 8,167.00 RMB per month. The National UNV is entitled to an excellent health, life and disability insurance package. A modest Settling-in Grant and end of assignment allowances will also be provided along with travel to and from the duty station. National UNVs are entitled to 2.5 days personal leave per month and government official holidays.
The duty station of the national UNV is at the PCMO or the PIO in Wuhai of Inner Mongolia. While life in the city is adequately convenient, the office of the incumbent is located in mining districts of Wuhai, where the air quality is sometimes affected.

Wuhai is in the west of Inner Mongolia, along the upper reach of the Yellow River, neighboring Ningxia Hui Autonomous Region.

Population: 465,000
Area: 1,754 sq kms

Administrative Division: 3 districts - Haibowan, Hainan & Wuda

As an industrial city, Wuhai has various natural resources, among which the coal mine is the richest. Wuhai is also one of the most important grape bases in China. It is famous for Yellow River and desert scenery. It also boasts of its calligraphic works, many of which have been released in national newspapers and television stations. In addition, 24 ethnic minority groups add to the charm of Wuhai. Folk culture such as Gao Qiao (walking on stilts), camel racing and playing on the Matou Qin (a musical instrument) are also highlights of the local culture.

Contexte organisationnel & description du projet

Background and Brief Project Description:

The United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) promotes sustainable human development to help build resilient nations and to empower people to build better lives. As the UN's development network, UNDP has drawn on world-wide experience for over three decades to assist China both in developing solutions to its own ongoing development challenges, and in its south-south cooperation and engagement in global development. Domestically, our work focuses on Poverty Reduction, Good Governance, Energy & Environment, and Disaster Management. In terms of global and south-south work, our focuses are trilateral cooperation in third countries, experience sharing on foreign aid systems, global and regional issues, private sector engagement, and sharing development experiences and lessons through south-south dialogue.

In September 2015, the member states of the United Nations adopted a new development agenda for the next 15 years that included 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). These new goals are a plan of action for our planet and call for new and innovative methods to address some of the world’s most pressing challenges by 2030.
To promote sustainable development in China in the mining sector, UNDP China has been working in partnership with China International Center for Economic and Technical Exchanges (CICETE) on initiating an innovative project, Environmental Governance and Sustainable Development of Wuhai, Inner Mongolia Autonomous Region (or the Wuhai Project). The objective of the project, to help facilitate the realization of a green economy, is to be achieved by strengthening the environmental and development policy process, pilots in-mine management and slag mountain management, pilots in new energy sources, promoting biodiversity conservation and ecotourism, increasing livelihood opportunities with a focus on women, and increasing indigenous people knowledge of environmental issues, and providing solid project management and technical support.

The Wuhai Project is being implemented from September 2018 to August 2022. To explore options for transitioning to a green economy that is inter alia, low-carbon, resource-efficient and socially inclusive, the project has been providing summaries of best practices to inform policymaking; carrying out research and advocacy activities for piloting green mining; organizing workshops and trainings on low carbon initiatives; advising on carbon financing; demonstrating hydrogen & circular economy; developing fuel cells in transportation; promoting eco-tourism activities. Through the promotion of ecosystem remediation and wetland conservation in the mining area, demonstration of new livelihood opportunities and the implementation of environmental education, the project also aims to establish and strengthen sustainable development frameworks in Wuhai.

Host Agency/Host Institute: UNDP (the UNV will be based at and report to the Project Implementation Office housed at the Guangna Group)

Organizational Context:

The United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) is the United Nations' global development network, advocating for change and connecting countries to knowledge, experience and resources to help people build a better life. It is on the ground in over 170 countries, working on solutions to global and national development challenges. UNDP China assists China in developing its own solutions to the country's development challenges and works to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals and an equitable Xiao Kang society on issues related to 1) People, Peace and Prosperity, 2) Planet, and 3) Global Partnerships.

UNDP works with key stakeholders in China, including the government and the public, to address environmental concerns in the country in line with both the recently adopted Sustainable Development Goals and the 13th Five-Year Plan. The Country Office has run several main portfolios including ecosystems & natural resources; climate change; chemical management; livelihoods and resilience; and a small grants programme.

Directly under the Ministry of Commerce, CICETE is an administratively autonomous agency, which was founded on March 12, 1983 with the approval of the State Council. Since its establishment, CICETE has witnessed an extraordinary history of nearly three decades, during which it deems its responsibility to promote economic and technical exchanges between China and the rest of the world and make great contributions to China’s economic and social development.

CICETE’s main function, delegated by the Ministry, is to coordinate the cooperation between China and UNDP, UNIDO and UNV including executing their assisted programs to China, and to implement projects of general goods supply under the China-Aid programme to other developing countries. Meanwhile, we organize conferences, exhibitions and overseas trainings, invite international short-term and long-term consultants, and provide project management service for international organizations, government agencies and enterprises. In addition, we have also been cooperating actively with international Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs) and enterprises through our subsidiary bodies-China Association for NGO Cooperation, China Association for Promoting UN Procurement, China Association for Trade in Service, and China-Han Technical Development Co. Ltd.

In all fields of business, CICETE seeks to further its partnerships with local governments, NGOs, universities, private sector entities and citizens interested in international cooperation, and we will work diligently to serve as a bridge between China and the rest of the world.

The Inner Mongolia Guangna Coal Industry (Group) Co., Ltd is a mining enterprise with the main business in coal power deep processing and low-carbon recycling of limestone resources, as well as other emerging projects such as cultural tourism and real estate. With a vision of green development, the Group has implemented dust-free operations and green slag mountain management in open-pit mining. To achieve ultra-low carbon emissions, the Group has collaborated closely with research institutions to promote the development of high-tech circular industries. Guangna Group provides financial support for the project and office space, staff and necessary equipment for needed for Project Implementation Office.
