Descripción de la asignación de voluntarios NU

ETHR001163--Project Officer, Livelihoods & Resilience

El programa de Voluntarios de las Naciones Unidas (VNU) es la organización de la ONU que contribuye a la paz y al desarrollo en todo el mundo por medio del voluntariado. El voluntariado es una forma poderosa de involucrar a los ciudadanos para hacer frente a los desafíos en materia de desarrollo, y capaz de transformar el ritmo y la naturaleza del mismo. El voluntariado beneficia tanto al conjunto de la sociedad como a los voluntarios, fortaleciendo la confianza, la solidaridad y la reciprocidad entre las personas y creando oportunidades de participación apropiadas. Para impulsar la paz y el desarrollo, el programa VNU promueve el reconocimiento de la contribución de los voluntarios, trabaja con sus asociados para integrar el voluntariado en los programas de desarrollo y moviliza en todo el mundo a un número cada vez mayor y más diverso de voluntarios, incluidos Voluntarios de las Naciones Unidas. El programa VNU entiende el voluntariado como universal e incluyente, y reconoce el voluntariado en toda su diversidad, así como los valores que lo sustentan: libre albedrío, entrega, compromiso y solidaridad. En la mayoría de las culturas, el voluntariado está profundamente arraigado en antiguas tradiciones de cooperación y apoyo fuertemente establecidas entre las comunidades. En este contexto los Voluntarios de las Naciones Unidas participan en varias formas de voluntariado y juegan un papel esencial en el desarrollo y la paz junto a sus colegas, agencias receptoras y comunidades locales. En todas las asignaciones, los Voluntarios de las Naciones Unidas promueven el voluntariado por medio de su acción y conducta. La participación en actividades voluntarias puede enriquecer efectiva y positivamente su entendimiento de la realidad local y social, así como también crear un puente entre los voluntarios y la gente de la comunidad receptora. Esto hará que su tiempo como Voluntario de la ONU sea aún más satisfactorio y productivo.

Ethiopia is in the tropical zone between the Equator and the Tropic of Cancer. It has three different climate zones according to elevation. Kolla (Tropical zone) is below 1830 meters in elevation and has an average annual temperature of about 27 degree celsius with annual rainfall about 510 millimetres. The Danakil Depression (Danakil Desert) is about 125 metres below sea level and the hottest region in Ethiopia where the temperature climbs up to 50 degree celsius. The capital city Addis Ababa is located in the Dega zone (cool zone) above 2,440 metres in elevation with an average annual temperature of about 16 degree celsius, with annual rainfall between 1,270 and 1,280 millimetres. If you’re planning to spend time in the capital, be aware that the altitude may cause you to feel tired, sleepless and breathless. Most people adjust to the high altitude within a few days.

Addis Ababa is fairly free of the more serious tropical diseases. Malarial mosquitoes are virtually unknown in Addis Ababa but are found at slightly lower altitudes. Travellers to the surrounding areas, particularly the lowlands of the Rift Valley and other more tropical areas of the country, should take malaria suppressives; chloroquine is recommended and available from the ECA Clinic. Yellow fever, hepatitis A + B, typhoid fever, typhus and other tropical diseases are not uncommon.

Amharic (አማርኛ) is the official national language of Ethiopia. After Arabic, it’s the most widely spoken Semitic language in the world. It’s written in Ethiopic text (or Ge’ez script) which has no exact system for transliterating into the Roman alphabet. English, Arabic, Italian and French are widely spoken by many Ethiopians.

Internet services in Ethiopia are slow and relatively expensive compared to most other countries. The major hotels have broadband internet service but it does slow down to a crawl during periods of high internet usage. Although its price has been decreasing, broadband internet access remains expensive.

The International Organization for Migration (IOM) is a dynamic and growing inter-governmental organization, with 173 member states, and committed to the principle that humane and orderly migration benefits all. IOM works to ensure the orderly and humane management of migration, to promote international cooperation on migration issues, to assist in the search for practical solutions to migration problems and to provide humanitarian assistance to migrants in need including refugees and internally displaced people.
Over more than ten years, IOM has been engaged in implementing programs aimed at supporting the efforts of the Government of Ethiopia to effectively manage migration through a wide array of programme activities. IOM has worked in collaboration with federal, regional and local government partners as well as civil society and nongovernmental organizations in protecting and assisting vulnerable migrants, optimizing the developmental potential of migration and regulating migration for the benefit of all.

IOM’s Special Liaison Office in Addis Ababa (Ethiopia) currently employs approximately 800 staff members across the country. In addition to the country office in the capital city, IOM Ethiopia has 11 sub-offices in border areas with Ethiopia’s neighbouring countries. The Special Liaison Office in Addis Ababa has two portfolios: bilateral cooperation with the Government of Ethiopia and liaison with the African Union (AU), the Inter-Governmental Authority for Development (IGAD) and the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa (UNECA).

IOM Ethiopia’s Migration Management Unit (MMU) works closely with the Government of Ethiopia (GoE) to improve migration management and governance including countering trafficking in persons (TiP) and smuggling of migrants (SoM) and promoting regular labour migration channels as well as the migration-development nexus. In response to the challenges posed by irregular migration, TiP and SoM, MMU implements programmes with a focus on migrant protection and assistance including assisted voluntary return and reintegration (AVRR), voluntary humanitarian return (VHR), counter-trafficking (CT), humanitarian assistance to migrants in situations of vulnerability.

As part of its programming to address the adverse drivers of TiP and SoM, IOM Ethiopia is involved in supporting vulnerable members of TiP-prone communities as well as returnees with livelihood support, on an individual and community-based basis. In addition, IOM works at the structural level to ensure relevant policy and strategic frameworks as well as implementing capacities are in place to ensure sustainable provision of livelihood assistance by the GoE.

Conditions of Service for International Specialist:

The contract lasts for the period indicated above with possibility of extensions subject to availability of funding, operational necessity and satisfactory performance. However, there is no expectation of renewal of the assignment.

A UN Volunteer receives a Volunteer Living Allowance (VLA) which is composed of the Monthly Living Allowance (MLA) and a Family Allowance (FA) for those with dependents (maximum three).

The Volunteer Living Allowance (VLA) is paid at the end of each month to cover housing, utilities, transportation, communications and other basic needs. The VLA can be computed by applying the Post-Adjustment Multiplier (PAM) to the VLA base rate of US$ 1,631. The VLA base rate is a global rate across the world, while the PAM is duty station/country-specific and fluctuates on a monthly basis according to the cost of living. This method ensures that international UN Volunteers have comparable purchasing power at all duty stations irrespective of varying costs of living. The PAM is established by the International Civil Service Commission (ICSC) and is published at the beginning of every month on the ICSC website http://icsc.un.org.
For UN Volunteer entitlements, kindly refer to the link https://vmam.unv.org/calculator/entitlements

In non-family duty stations that belong to hardship categories D or E, as classified by the ICSC, international UN Volunteers receive a Well-Being Differential (WBD) on a monthly basis.

Furthermore, UN Volunteers are provided a settling-in-grant (SIG) at the start of the assignment (if the volunteer did not reside in the duty station for at least 6 months prior to taking up the assignment) and in the event of a permanent reassignment to another duty station.

UNV provides life, health, permanent disability insurances as well as assignment travel, annual leave, full integration in the UN security framework (including residential security reimbursements).

UN Volunteers are paid Daily Subsistence Allowance at the UN rate for official travels, flight tickets for periodic home visit and for the final repatriation travel (if applicable). Resettlement allowance is paid for satisfactory service at the end of the assignment.

UNV will provide, together with the offer of assignment, a copy of the Conditions of Service, including Code of conduct, to the successful candidate.

Supervision, induction and duty of care of UN Volunteers

UN Volunteers should be provided equal duty of care as extended to all host entity personnel. Host entity support to the UN Volunteer includes, but is not limited to:

- Introductory briefings about the organisation and office-related context including security, emergency procedures, good cultural practice and orientation to the local environment;

- Support with arrival administration including setting-up of bank accounts, residence permit applications and completion of other official processes as required by the host government or host entity;

- Structured guidance, mentoring and coaching by a supervisor including a clear workplan and performance appraisal;

- Access to office space, equipment, IT support and any other systems and tools required to complete the objectives of the assignment including a host entity email address;

- Access to shared host entity corporate knowledge, training and learning;
- Inclusion of the volunteer in emergency procedures such as evacuations;

- Leave management;

- DSA for official travel, when applicable;

- All changes in the Description of Assignment occurring between recruitment and arrival or during the assignment need to be formalized with the United Nations Volunteer Programme.
