Located in the Northern part of South America, Guyana, the “land of many waters” is a unique blend of Caribbean and South American culture and history.

With 965 miles of navigable rivers, 83% of Guyana is covered by pristine rainforest. The country is bordered by the Atlantic Coastline on the northeast, Venezuela on the west, Suriname on the east and Brazil on the West and South. The national language in Guyana is English. With an area of approximately 214,969 square kilometres, close to 90% of the population of approximately 736,000 people (2012...
Guyana is known as the land of six peoples. This ethnic mix reflects the country’s unique history and can be witnessed in its rich culture, diverse food offerings and the local Creole language.

The country is treated to high temperatures and bright sunshine almost all year round. Other than serious flash floods which take place in the rainy season between May and June, the country is sheltered from extreme weather conditions. In the capital city, Georgetown, temperatures remain consistent with average highs of 34°C and rarely dip below 20°C. Georgetown, the capital, has expanded dramatically through the years and is divided into three regions: Central Georgetown that includes the business district as well as the seat of the federal Government; Greater Georgetown, that contains some of the most luxurious metropolitan neighbourhoods; and South Georgetown, a poor area along the eastern bank of the Demerara River.

Georgetown has changed substantially in the past 3-5 years. Bars, restaurants, movies, malls and imported goods can be easily accessed. The city is generally safe but like other countries, there are some areas that should be avoided or precaution is taken when entering.

Rent for an apartment is between USD 250–1500 depending on the area and monthly living expenses range from USD 250 – 400 including transportation, food and miscellaneous expenses.

Guyana is a unique country. It provides for an interesting and enriching environment, but requires a mature level of cultural awareness and commitment to make life comfortable and affordable.

Conditions of Service for International Specialist:

The contract lasts for the period indicated above with possibility of extensions subject to availability of funding, operational necessity and satisfactory performance. However, there is no expectation of renewal of the assignment.

A UN Volunteer receives a Volunteer Living Allowance (VLA) which is composed of the Monthly Living Allowance (MLA) and a Family Allowance (FA) for those with dependents (maximum three).

The Volunteer Living Allowance (VLA) is paid at the end of each month to cover housing, utilities, transportation, communications and other basic needs. The VLA can be computed by applying the Post-Adjustment Multiplier (PAM) to the VLA base rate of US$ 1,651. The VLA base rate is a global rate across the world, while the PAM is duty station/country-specific and fluctuates on a monthly basis according to the cost of living. This method ensures that international UN Volunteers have comparable purchasing power at all duty stations irrespective of varying costs of living. The PAM is established by the International Civil Service Commission (ICSC) and is published at the beginning of every month on the ICSC website http://icsc.un.org.

For UN Volunteer entitlements, kindly refer to the link https://vmam.unv.org/calculator/entitlements

In non-family duty stations that belong to hardship categories D or E, as classified by the ICSC, international UN Volunteers receive a Well-Being Differential (WBD) on a monthly basis.

Furthermore, UN Volunteers are provided a settling-in-grant (SIG) at the start of the assignment (if the volunteer did not reside in the duty station for at least 6 months prior to taking up the assignment) and in the event of a permanent reassignment to another duty station.

UNV provides life, health, permanent disability insurances as well as assignment travel, annual leave, full integration in the UN security framework (including residential security reimbursements).

UN Volunteers are paid Daily Subsistence Allowance at the UN rate for official travels, flight tickets for periodic home visit and for the final repatriation travel (if applicable). Resettlement allowance is paid for satisfactory service at the end of the assignment.

UNV will provide, together with the offer of assignment, a copy of the Conditions of Service, including Code of conduct, to the successful candidate.
Supervision, induction and duty of care of UN Volunteers

UN Volunteers should be provided equal duty of care as extended to all host entity personnel. Host entity support to the UN Volunteer includes, but is not limited to:
